SOME COMMON DISHES
The following are a few ways of serving the common vegetables:
Cabbage Baked with Cheese - Chop the cabbage and cook in boiling water (lightly salted) until tender; put in layers in a baking dish, alternating with a white sauce and grated cheese and bake long enough to melt the cheese.
Carrots in Lemon Butter - Cut carrots into long slender strips and lay in cold water for a few minutes to become crisp. Cook in a little boiling water until very tender, cooking down to evaporate all the liquid. Season with salt, a half teaspoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of butter, and a little cayenne to a pint of the carrots. Simmer until the butter is absorbed, then add lemon juice to taste, with a little minced parsley. Boil up and serve at once very hot.
Turnips and White Sauce - Wash and slice the turnips into half-inch slices, pare, and cut the slices into cubes. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Make a cupful of seasoned white sauce and add to the drained turnips. Serve hot.
Fresh Peas - Shell one and one-half quarts of green peas, place in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter, a small onion, a heart of lettuce finely chopped, salt and pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar, and three tablespoonfuls of water. Cover tightly and simmer one hour, stirring from time to time. When the peas are soft, remove the onion and add two egg yolks beaten with a little cream. Let boil up once, stirring constantly, and serve at once.
Stuffed Tomatoes - Scald even-sized tomatoes and remove the stems. Cut a slice from the top of each and scoop out the center. Chop these bits with small mushrooms which have been parboiled, add bread crumbs and seasoning, with a few chopped nuts. Fill the tomatoes with this mixture, sprinkle well with seasoning and chopped parsley, and place in a buttered baking dish. Bake about fifteen minutes in a hot oven. (copyright, 1927)
